History of Geauga County

and

History of The Amish

This book was written by Moses & Mattie E. Borkholder in the year 1961.

A short history of Geauga County and the Amish that moved into Geauga County in the spring of 1886. The reader will likely find many mistakes, but in copying the many names and dates human errors are very likely to occur.

We sincerely thank each and everyone who helped prepare this History.

PART I

GEAUGA COUNTY

Material for this greatly condensed account of Geauga County's first 150 years was obtained from the Pioneer History of Geauga County published by The Geauga County Historical Society in 1880, and The Lake and Geauga County History by A. G. Riddle, published in 1878.

"Five thousand pounds, New York currency ($24,000.00), to be paid in goods to the western Indians, and two beef cattle and 100 gallons of whisky to be paid to the eastern Indians, besides gifts and provisions for all of them." That, according to the old records, was the price paid by Moses Cleveland, agent of the Connecticut Land Company, to "Red Jacket," principal chief of the "Six Nations," for the Indians' title to three million acres of land lying between the Pennsylvania line and the mouth of the Cuyahoga River on Lake Erie. The date was June 23, 1796.

On the Halford Farm in Hunting Valley on State Route 87, is a big walnut tree with a sign on it reading: "Black Walnut Nigra. This is the Moses Cleveland tree, as it was standing here as a part of the original forest when he landed at the mouth of the Cuyahoga River, July 22, 1796. Let us preserve it as a living memorial of the first settlers of the Western Reserve." Today, this is a large tree, and is still standing.

Chardon

Chardon, the county seat, was established in 1808 by Peter Chardon Brooks of Boston, Mass. Mr. Brooks, a man of considerable wealth, donated the land occupied by the village to the commissioners who had been appointed to locate the county seat.

The first courthouse was built in the fall of 1812 by Capt. Edward Paine, Jr. It was a one-room building with a fireplace topped by a chimney of split sticks and mortar. There was only one window and the floor was of rough, wide boards. The Judge's bench was a split log, supported on blocks of wood.

The building was replaced in 1813 by another, built by Samuel King at a cost of 750 dollars. One end of this served as the county jail.

A third courthouse of masonry construction was later built and used until it was destroyed by the great fire which swept Chardon on July 25, 1868. The present building was built in 1879 at the cost of $72,000.

The fire swept the entire business section, leveling all of the buildings on the west side of Main Street. Three weeks later, work was begun on the present structures.

Parkman

Visitors to Parkman Township in Geauga's southeast corner may still see a grist mill which has been in almost continuous operation since 1806, when the first such mill in Geauga County was built there by Robert Parkman of Cayuga County, New York. Operated by the power of the water of the Grand River as it tumbles into a deep gorge a few hundred feet south of the village square, the original mill, built in conjunction with a saw mill, was a favorite with neighboring Indians who brought corn there to be ground into meal. When the building was burned, it was rebuilt as it stands today.

Mill-builder Robert Parkman was a nephew of Samuel Parkman, who bought the township from the Connecticut Land Co. in 1797 and visited here in 1801.

Troy

Originally called Welshfield, Troy Township was settled in 1811 by Jacob Welsh who came from Boston, Mass., "to locate lands within the township, have them surveyed and make other necessary improvements."

One of the township's most memorable episodes took place in 1820 when it was visited by millions of pigeons. One section of the township had long been known as "The Pigeon Roost" because each year the birds used it as a stop-over in their migratory flights.

In 1820, however, the birds were so numerous that "sturdy oaks were crushed beneath their weight and smaller trees and saplings were bent over, never again to stand upright. The noise of their flight could be heard for miles around, and their unnumbered millions blotted out the sun.

Pigeon hunters obtained wagon loads of the birds with only long poles for weapons. The many years of occupation by the pigeons made the tract the most fertile land in the township.

Middlefield

Second township to be settled was Middlefield. Four miles east of Burton, the settlement was once called Burton and later, "Batavia," before it was given its present name, logically enough, because it was exactly midway (21 miles distant) between Painesville and Warren on the Old State Road.

Hambden

Originally known as "Bondstown" in honor of its first citizen, Dr. Solomon Bond, who came from Connecticut in 1803, this community was the home of Geauga County's first co-operative movement. Known as the "Bondstown Logging Society," the group had a written constitution and by-laws to bind all of its members to "do all the logging and chopping each member had to do for four years."

According to the rules, all fines had to be paid in whiskey as follows: First, no man had a right to furnish more than one gallon of whiskey for each ten men on a job. If a man called for a logging bee before clearing off the brush in a proper manner, he was fined a gallon of whiskey. If he was late getting to a logging bee, he was fined two quarts of whiskey. At the end of a year the Society was disbanded and the constitution was burned.

On August 21, 1890, a storm moved the George Kleinshrot house out in the middle of the road. Mrs. Kleinshrot was in bed with a baby five days old. One of the girls jumped out of a window that was broken, and cut her knee. The rest stayed in the house and none were hurt.

A neighbor, Bish. Jacob Byler took in Mrs. Kleinshrot and baby and took care of them until the house was put back in place and repaired. The barn was also damaged. People helped repair the barn and house and donated money, etc. They had forty dollars left from donations after they were done repairing, so they gave it to Bish. Jacob for caring for Mrs. Kleinshrot and baby.

Lizzie Ann, daughter of Benedict Gingerich and Lizzie, daughter of Bish. Jacob Byler were also in the house when the storm hit. Bish. Jacobs was thrashing and the girls were at Kleinshrot's on an errand when the storm hit.

In February 1901 Manasses M. Hershbergers and Daniel J. Millers moved from Holmes Co. to Geauga Co. They left two horses and a buggy in Holmes Co. and later that spring, David D. Miller and Levi M. Hershberger went back and returned with the horse and buggy and on horseback drove their cattle to Geauga Co.

On April 19, 1901 it started to snow and snowed for three days. It was the worst snow storm in years. Eli M. Borkholders lived north of Hayes Corners, where Menno Hostetler now resides. The snow drifted so high between their barn and house that they couldn't get through, so they dug a tunnel under the snow from the house to the barn. They couldn't let their cattle out to water them, so they led the cows and horses through the tunnel, up to the house, where they had a pump and so watered them all. Some farmers had sown their oats, and some had gardens planted, but it didn't harm them any.

History

First Amish Settlers in Geauga Co.

In the year 1886, Samuel Weaver with his family migrated from Holmes Co., to Parkman Twp. in Geauga Co. and settled on a small farm on the Parkman-Middlefield road, the first farm north of the Cook farm.

Therefore, he was the founder and first settler of the colony which followed to the land of milk, cheese, and maple syrup, the main products of the farms. The news soon spread to the different states, causing a lot of land seekers for the next ten to fifteen years.

Many farms were for rent, fully equipped, with from ten to forty milk cows, crops, tools, sometimes horses, and large sugar bushes fully equipped on a 50-50 basis. Other farms were for sale at 20 to 40 dollars an acre.

In the spring of 1887, my grandparents, Pre. Daniel J. Byler and son, Pre. Jacob (my father) and families loaded a car of household goods at East Brook Station, or New Castle, Pa. and started on their way to the new colony.

The following day, father and his brother, Noah, and my brother, Steve, started for Geauga Co. with four horses hitched to an open wagon, arriving in Warren, O. that same evening. The next morning the ground was frozen, but a nice March day soon turned the rough road into mud, and more mud, so the men took turns in driving and walking. They finally arrived late in the afternoon at the farm previously rented, owned by Joe Gates, situated on the townline road of Middlefield and Parkman. The dwelling was of brick and still is in use.

There they set up housekeeping with a cookstove and a few utensils brought along for that purpose. In one room they built a fire in an open fireplace, put a pile of straw on the floor, and a few blankets for a bed. They had intended to unload the car and have the houses in order by the time the families arrived, which was a week or ten days later. Father walked to Middlefield almost every day (4 miles distant) to see if the car had arrived.

The same evening that the families arrived the car was attached to the passenger train at Deforest Jet. The families were taken to the homes of David Millers and the Weavers.

My grandparents moved on the farm where Jacob N. Gingerich now resides. David J. Miller (John David) lived on the first farm south of the Boorn Schoolhouse, on Old State Road. Buildings are now in ruins.

Peter Millers (Mike Peters) lived southeast of Parkman, now U. S. Route 422. Simon Masts bought a farm two miles east of Welshfield, Troy Twp. There was also a family by the name of Kuhns, and a family (I cannot recall their name) from Holmes Co.

Crist Zook migrated from Pennsylvania to the second farm east of the Gates farm. Nine families in all.

First church services were held at Sam Weavers in 1886, when a number of land seekers were there. Services by David Miller (gla David) and possibly other ministers. The church was organized in the spring of 1887, and if my memory serves me right, it was at the home of my grandparents. The ministers were Daniel J. Byler, Jacob D. Byler and Simon Mast. Four years later, Mast was ordained a bishop, which he faithfully served until his death on his 50th birthday.

In the spring of 1888 and 1889 a number of families moved from Indiana, Holmes, and Lawrence counties. Dea Isaac Hershberger from Indiana located on the farm where his son, Bish. Neil now resides. Noah Slabaugh bought a farm south of Swine Creek, opposite the Hawthorne farm. On that farm was the first burial grounds. First burial was an old lady, Mrs. Sommers. Next was my brother Daniel in 1888, and a few others. Three of my sisters were also buried there. Eight or nine years later the bodies were all moved to the Hayes Corner cemetery, where we hope they may remain in peace untill the great Judgment Day.

Other families who settled there were my uncle John Kurtz from Pennsylvania, "Yacob El" Millers, and son John and wife, newlyweds. Els bought a farm west of Middlefield, where the nice dairy farm now is. D. D. Miller located south of Middlefield Center on the north side of the railroad, and started a Swiss Cheese factory.

Eli Borkholders who moved to Geauga from Indiana, moved in where Zooks had vacated, as Zooks moved back to Mifflin Co., Pa. D. D. Miller needed milk to keep his factory, and seven sons busy (of course they were not all grown up at this time), so Eli started a milk route. Us boys would get a big thrill to see him coming with a pair of small mules, very much resembling an over-sized pair of Western jack rabbits, and when going at full gallop those big 20, 30, and 40 gallon milk cans would make a clattering noise that could be heard for a mile or so around the country side.

Each year brought a few more families, namely, Kauffmans, Wengards, Yoders, Gingerichs, Detweilers, etc. In the fall of 1889, 1890, Uncle Crist Byler migrated from Kansas. The families at this time were widely scattered. All the way from Pope's Corners to Burton, Huntsburg, Middlefield, and Parkman. So some often had 8, 10, or 12 miles to go for church services. Nevertheless, they got together and were glad to have the fellowship together. Some of them walked all the way as there were few driving horses. The families rode in open spring wagons with farm horses for power, often colts following. In the spring it was rain and mud or rough roads, in the winter, cold and snowy, then the sled rides had their joys.

I heard the older folks say that those first few years were their most pleasant years, as the old and young were more alike, being together more, visiting, and at singings, spelling matches, etc, there was less pride, and more unity, less strife in church matters, and among neighbors, and they were content with their few earthly possessions. I often heard the remark that Geauga Co. would be a good poor house if it only had a roof.

Neighbors were willing to help each other, often exchanging labor at harvest. There was far less farm machinery. Horse drawn corn planters were unknown. The farmers would prepare the corn ground, mark it both ways with a horse-drawn marker, then the neighbors would join together and help each other, the younger boys, and often girls, would drop 3 to 4 kernels of corn at the cross marks, the older folks following with hoes, and covering it about one inch. While doing so, they had a sociable time together, creating good will among them.

If any strife, or ill feeling appeared, it was quickly settled, so that peace and good will prevailed among old and young alike, by observing the Golden Rule and the teachings of the Holy scriptures, our forefathers formed and organized a church on the solid rock, and foundation of Christ, or else it could not have stood the test of these perilous times for 62 years without a schism or split. With what has happened in the last year or so, what will the picture be like in twenty years from now? Therefore, be steadfast, for the ways of the Lord never changes.

Before the end of the 19th century, immigration started in earnest. One spring, 22 families migrated and all settled in the Nauvoo, and Hayes Corner section, all unloading the cars at Middlefield. My parents lived near where Frank Boorn's auctions are now held, so naturally we were invited to help unload most every car. The writer often helped. As was the rule, we would all help to unload the cars, then a long string of teams moved through town, with the old Yankees watching the procession, shaking their heads and saying, "The Dutch are moving out of Egypt," as that section was nick-named.

Nearly all those families were renters, and mostly from Holmes Co. Some from Indiana, and Pennsylvania. Some of the names were Yoder, Mullet, Sommers, Barkman, Petersheim, and Coblentz. The Kempfs, Schrocks, and Jake Millers migrated from Oregon, and Reuben Byler from Virginia. With such an increase it caused a shortage of ministers, and divisions in church lines were needed. The first one was the Parkman-Middlefield town line road. The second line was the Middlefield Center road. Those districts were called the Troy, Middlefield, and East Middlefield districts.

As the colony prospered, and increased, they settled north, and east of Huntsburg. Among these were Pre. P. V. Yoder, and Pre. Crist J. Miller (Yone Crist) so they organized the Huntsburg District, the south line being at Barnes Corners. In this district a minister was ordained, and the lot fell on Jake Miller. He later was ordained a Bishop, and resided at Dover, Delaware, where he was laid to rest. At this time, father was the only Bishop for the four districts. The next Bishop was C. J. Kauffman, in the Troy District. The next one was Eli Byler in the East Middlefield District. Soon after, father died on Nov. 8, 1908. Age 59 years.

About 1905, a few became dissatisfied, so David C. Troyers migrated to Stark Co., and were the first Amish settlers there. He said he wanted to live where he could raise corn to fatten hogs. Others soon began to get cold feet for Geauga, and Stark ever increased, resulting in nearly all the families in Huntsburg Twp. migrating to Stark Co., a few back to Indiana, and to this day very few families have lived north, and east of Huntsburg village. Among the families leaving were two ministers, P. V. Yoder, and Crist Miller, also Sommers, Coblentzs, Troyers, Helmuths, Beachys, Bontragers, Glicks, Schrocks, and others. Pre. Dave Miller went to Delaware, and a few back to Indiana. If my memory is correct the Schrocks migrated to Montana about 1899.

The settlers, and founders of Geauga Co. began looking for new adventure, so in 1900, Samuel Weavers, his son John and family, migrated to Oscoda Co., Michigan, being the pioneer settlers among the pine stumps and brush. Others soon followed, but the colony did not flourish too well, and quite a few came back to Ohio. One is now a Bishop, Harvey S. Weaver.

Those were the good old days, when folks were content with what they had to eat, and wear, and sometimes go off to Holmes, or Lawrence Co. on a visit with a farm horse, and open buggy. Sometimes a mare was used with a young colt trailing behind, or going ahead.

The writer made the trip over land to Pennsylvania five different times. In the fall of 1902, I hired out to Sim Kurtz to help him drive six head of cattle from Middlefield to Winesburg, O. It took us three days, and part of a night to make the trip, driving the cattle through the city of Massilon. Two nights we slept in barns, eating cold lunches, or whatever we could get along the route. Imagine what would happen if anyone attempted such a trip in these advanced times.

Great changes have taken place in the last 50 years. Therefore, heed ye and watch, as God's laws never change. Sixty-three years ago this coming March the church consisted of nine families. Today there are eleven good sized church districts.

At the time of migration, the writer was at the ripe age of 4 years and 5 months. Part of this I have from heresay, wrote the rest as my memory dictates.

Written by Yost J. Byler, New Wilmington, Pa., for the Budget in the year 1958.
